Who we are

Who is providing this notice?

Consilium Wealth Advisory, LLC ("Consilium")

What we do

How does Consilium protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use reasonable security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.

How does Consilium Wealth Advisory, LLC collect my personal information?

We collect your personal information, for example, when you

- give us your contact information or share your government issued ID
- open an account or give us income information
- enter into an investment advisory contract or service agreement
- provide employment information
- make a wire transfer or money movement authorization
- provide account information

We also collect your personal information from other companies related to the services for which we are engaged.

Why can't I limit all sharing?

Federal law gives you the right to limit only

- sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes—information about your creditworthiness
- affiliates from using your information to market to you
- sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing.

What happens when I limit sharing for an account I hold jointly with someone else?

Your choices will apply to everyone on your account.
